

GlobalDebit

the Ultimate International Cash Card

What is a GlobalDebit Card?

The GlobalDebit Card is a “universal” stored value card that looks and acts like a traditional credit or debit card and can be used as payment wherever MasterCard or VISA are accepted; worldwide. Anyone who has a valid address and valid identification including a passport, driver license or birth certificate qualifies to receive a card. The country in which you reside or visit does not have to match your identification to qualify for the card.

The card may contain other value added features including a preference-based loyalty program that adds immediate value to the card. Those who receive a GlobalDebit Card can use it at literally tens of millions of places for both traditional and on-line purchases. In most cases, these transactions do not carry the high fees and interest rates associated with other credit and private branded debit cards.

The card is accepted at 100% of the ATM machines worldwide. Further, the card can be utilized to send money card to card to any country to country for much less than traditional methods.
